

Ingrid supports her clients at every stage of the litigation process, relying on her prior experiences clerking and working as an associate at an international law firm.

Prior to joining Gair Gallo Eberhard, Ingrid was an associate at an Am Law 100 firm, specializing in complex commercial litigation and employment matters. At that firm, Ingrid had a robust pro bono practice, which included winning a jury trial and obtaining compensatory and punitive damages for violations of her client's constitutional rights. Ingrid also clerked for two federal judges—Judge Matthew F. Kennelly on the Northern District of Illinois and Judge Amy J. St. Eve on the Seventh Circuit.

During law school, Ingrid was a research assistant to several professors, a Notes Editor for the Michigan Law Review, and a student attorney with the Workers' Rights Clinic. She graduated magna cum laude and was inducted into the Order of the Coif.

Ingrid lives in Chicago with her rescue dog, Kallie. In her free time, she enjoys biking, gardening, and continuing her search for the city's best almond croissant.
